W ith AACE International, there are a variety of sponsorship opportunities suitable for your company, regardless of its size. As a sponsor, you will gain maximum visibility for your company, as well as garner the extra exposure necessary to increase brand awareness. In addition, you will establish a powerful presence and make critical connections with key decision makers on local, regional, national, and international levels.

AACE offers you a full array of sponsoring possibilities ranging from exclusive Annual Meeting Sponsorship to the simple power of a single day educational experience with members in your area.

The return your firm and your employees will gain from sponsorship of AACE International activities is immeasurable.

SECTION MEETINGS

Your company can host local AACE Section meetings at little to no cost. Many AACE Sections enjoy holding their Section meetings at an office - you could host a Section meeting in your conference room. If you have additional resources, you could provide refreshments for the Section meeting. Your company will gain exposure from hosting a Section meeting and your employees will be able to easily participate in the Section event because they won't have to commute to the meeting.

If you have a noteworthy project that you are proud of, why not volunteer to host a tour of the site or present a briefing to like-minded individuals?

REGIONAL MEETING

From time to time, AACE hosts regional meetings. Your company could provide a speaker for a regional event. Your company could also financially support a regional event by paying for your employees to participate or making a general donation to the regional meeting.

CERTIFICATION

Offer to host a certification exam being given in your area. AACE offers its certification exams on twice a year and upon special request.

Gain better-prepared employees and local recognition by sponsoring a certification preparatory course for your employees and other participants in your area.

Sponsor your employees participation in certification preparatory courses, reimburse them for study materials, and/or pay their exam fees.

BECOME A CORPORATE SPONSOR

Leverage your corporate size with a very cost-efficient, comprehensive package of benefits designed to encourage companies to develop the skills of their cost and management employees through AACE membership called the CSP. The CSP consists of group memberships, website and professional journal recognition, access to our renowned Virtual Library, and discounts on merchandise, registrations, and fees.

BENEFITS

- Local, regional, national, and international recognition
- Better-trained employees
- Highly-marketable professional certifications
- A strong technical background to help you meet the challenges of this demanding profession

RETURN ON INVESTMENT

So, what is your Return on Investment with sponsorship of the AACE International? What is the value of professional contacts and international exposure to the entire project controls world-system? What is the value of better trained and motivated workers? How can you place a value on technical quality-control and peer support when you need it most?

Sponsorship of AACE International on a local, regional, national, and international level may well prove to be the best investment you make all year. Your employees will benefit from a vast pool of resources from respected professionals and your company will gain exposure and prestige as a result.
